CANAL TREATY VOTE TUESDAY

ENOUGH VOTES PLEDGED FOR ITS RATIFICATION.

Voting on the Amendments Will Begin Monday-Senator Spooner Makes a Five Hour Speech in Defence of the Treaty -Senator Depew Also Speaks for It.

WASHINGTON, March 14 .- After nearly six hours spent in executive session to-day the decks were cleared in the Senate for the ratification of the Panama Canal Treaty on Tuesday. Voting will begin on Monday on the Democratic amendments to be offered by Senator Morgan and others. Under the rule each Senator will be allowed to speak but fifteen minutes, and on Tuesday there will be two hours of general debate preceding the final vote on ratineation. The amendments will all be voted down and the treaty ratified by a non-partisan vote. The Democratic Senators will hold a caucus on Monday, previous to the meeting of the Senate and will probably decide to vote for the proposed amendments as a party. If an attempt is made to commit them to vote against the treaty after being amended it will fail, as it is positively known that a sufficient number of Democratic Senators are already pledged to vote for the treaty to make its ratification certain. The Cuban reciprocity treaty will be taken up on Wednesday and ratified after a brief debate. Final adjournment of the Senate will be reached some time next week. Mr. Spooner spoke for five hours in executive session to-day, and was followed by Mr. Depew, who spoke for three-quarters of an hour. Mr. Spooner was interrupted occasionally, his principal interlocutor being Mr. Morgan, who asked at least fifty questions on various points, chiefly in relation to the New Panama Canal Company's titles. Others who asked questions of Mr. Spooner were Messrs. Teller, Patterson and Bacon. Mr. Bacon offered an amendment to Section 23 providing substantially for the sovereignty of the United States over the Canal strip. His amendment was similar in purport to that already offered by Mr. Morgan, which evades the prohibition of the constitution of Colombia against the alienation of territory by using this phrase: "The rights and privileges granted by the terms of this convention shall not affect the paramount sovereignty of the Republic of Colombia over the territory within whose boundaries such rights and privileges are to be exercised so as to displace the same, to be exercised so as to displace the same, but said zone shall not be subject to the laws of war or belligerency, by the act of decree of Colombia or the United States."

The questions asked by the Democrats of Mr. Spooner and the amendment offered by Mr. Bacon indicated plainly to the Republican Senators that the Democrats would vote almost solidly for certain amendments, and certainly for that one broadening the scope of the control over the Canal ing the scope of the control over the Canal zone. But the Democrats did not give any indication that they would oppose the treaty if the amendments were defeated. Mr. Spooner's speech was treaty if the amendments were defeated.

Mr. Spooner's speech was a masterly effort, which engaged the attention of the entire Senate. He went deeply into the subject, directing his remarks to the same subjects upon which Mr. Morgan has been speaking for many days. So far as a speech of five hours could cover the points raised by Mr. Morgan in a speech many times as long, Mr. Spooner covered them. He combatted Mr. Morgan's contention that the new Panama Canal Comtention that the new Panama Canal Comtention that the new Panama Canal Com-them. He combatted Mr. Morgan's con-tention that the new Panama Canal Com-pany is a partnership arrangement, in which the United States, by succeeding to its rights; will become liable for the bonds now outstanding in France. Mr. Spooner went over Attorney-General Knox's report on the question of title, and declared report on the question of title, and declared that the title in his opinion as a lawyer was perfectly valid, and that the New Panama Canal Company was competent

The conditions at Panama and Colon in political way were also discussed by Mr. Spooner. He did not believe that the suc-cession by the United States to the New Panama Canal Company's property and the concession granted by Colombia under the treaty would "imbrue the hands of the United States in the blood of the Liberal party of Colombia," as asserted by Mr. Morgan. Nor, in Mr. Spooner's opinion, was there any basis for the bugaboo that the United States are in fact negotiating with the Church of Rome instead of with a free and independent people in Colombia. He was not alarmed by the cry that the people in the Canal zone would be under the carse of the canal zone would be under the carse of the cancordat and the "abomi-nable law passed by Colombia to carry it into effect." The treaty, he pointed out provided for the enactment of proper laws for the government of the Canal zone.

antes that the United States would not throw away any of the liberties of the people.

Mr. Spooner did not go so far as to declare the treaty perfect. Indeed, he pointed out flaws here and there, which he said could be remedied, if time and occasion served. But under the circumstances he believed it was the part of wisdom to make no amendments whatever to the treaty. It should go to the Govern neat of Colombia as signed by the representative of that as signed by the representative of that Government, and prompt ratification would be reasonably expected to follow. The possession by the United States of the Canal zone, the good faith and energy the good faith and energy shown by this country in the prosecution of the work, and the underhable self-interest of Colombia would all conspire, in his judgment, to bring about remedies for defect that might develop in the un-standing between the two Governments. derstanding between the two Governments. Both were inspired with the some ambition, and both would reap benefit by working together. He said he had no fears that the reasonable requirements of the dituation would not be net by Colombia, and expressed the belief that any modifica-tion of the treaty could be effected as changes were found to be necessary changes were found to be necessary

So far as the so-called partire-hip in the carial zone was concerned. Mr. Spooter declared that this might be far preferable, in actual workings, than absolute severeighty on the part of the l'uned States.
Colombia, under the arrangement, would be jointly reponsible for good order and the safety of the public works, so far as

Mr. Morgan interrupted Mr. Spooner schemeter the latter made software supercally telling points against the formers arguments but the replies he received were not all to his liking. The questions in fact, brought out answers which illuminated the subject and disposed of Mr. Morgan's Goundless fears one after the other At the conclusion of Mr. Spicener's effort he was heartly congratulated by his columnated

ARMY OFFICERS SURPRISED. Criticise the President for Approving

Bill Making K. J. Hampton a Captain. WASHINGTON, March 14 .- Army officer are severely criticising President Roose velt's action in approving an act of Congress providing for the appointment to the army, with the rank of Captain, of Kensey J. Hampton, a former Volunteer officer, who has been twice rejected by military examining boards because of physical incapacity. One board rejected him "on account of almost total blindness in the left eye," a finding which had the approval of the chief surgeon at Manila, Major-Gen. MacArthur, then in command at Manila, and the authorities of the War Department. Failing to get his appointment through the regular channels, Hampton secured sufficient political backing to have the House pass a bill authorizing his appointment by the President. When the bill appeared in the Senate it met with the opposition of the officers on duty in War Department, Adjutant-General Corbin officially expressing in a communication to the Senate his disapproval of the proto the Senate his disapproval of the proposed legislation.

Notwithstanding this opposition, the bill was passed and army officers generally, who had been watching the case, felt certain that President Roosevelt would put an end to Hampton's ambition by vetoing the bill. His failure to do so is the cause of much surprise to the officers stationed in Washington, some of whom spoke very freely to-day on the subject, and pointed out that the President's approval of the bill was not consistent with his official statement made just before Congress assembled expressing his disapproval of the use of political influence by army officers, either for securing promotion or cers, either for securing promotion or advantageous assignment. Capt. Hampton is the son-in-law of a advantageous assignment.

Capt. Hampton is the son-in-law of a popular Washington hotel proprietor and had the support of Senator Deboe of Kentucky. He served in the Philippines as Captain and assistant Quartermaster of the Volunteers and sought a similar appointment in the Regular service. His appointment at this time is particularly opposed by officers in the junior grades, who say that the grade of Captain should be filled by promotion.

KAUFMAN-KERR WEDDING. The Groom a Millionaire Mining and Railroad Man.

WASHINGTON, March 14 .- The climax of unique and widely advertised antehoneymoon trip was reached in the marriage at noon to-day, in the President's room of the new Willard Hotel, of Miss Lulu B. Kerr of Chicago and Daniel W. Kaufman of Marquette, Mich., a millionaire mining and railroad man. The Rev. Roland Cot-ton Smith, rector of St. John's Episcopal Church, officiated, and the wedding was private. R. E. Metheany of Grand Rapids, president of the Martinique, Marquette and Northern Railway and Steamship Line. of which Mr. Kaufman is vice-president, acted as best man. Senator and Mrs. Burrows were among the few invited guests who witnessed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Kaufman will remain a few days at the Holland House, New York, and will then sail for Europe to spend an extensive honey-

Maid Discovered the Ring-Tailed Intruder in Mr. Gould's Rooms and Half a Dozen Men Chased Him-Cop Ends an Argument Over the $25 Reward.

The short-tailed, long-whiskered monkey that has been making life unpleasant since Wendesday for folks in the block between Sixth and Seventh avenues and Fiftyeighth and Fifty-ninth streets was caught yesterday in the apartments of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Gould, on the eighth floor of the Valencia, 150 West Fifty-ninth street.

It all happened about half-past 8 in the morning, just as Mr. Gould had tumbled bathtub. Elizabeth Dempsey, a maid, found the monkey sitting on a leather-backed armchair in the Goulds'

Mr. Gould and others in the building learned of the monkey's presence through a high-keyed shriek. The monkey took the hint and began an ascent ceilingward by way of the portières, the chandelier and bric-à-brac-covered mantelpiece. The higher he went the louder the maid yelled. and the louder she yelled, the faster the monkey jumped.

Mr. Gould came out in a flowing bath robe and summoned assistance over the telephone.

Up came William Leahy, George Callan.
James Larissey, Thomas Lainster and George Murray, janitors or beliboys all.
The monkey wouldn't leave out and the chase began. It lasted for almost half an hour until the intruder was carried into Mr. Gould's bedroom and smothered under an avalanche of blanket with a janitor at each corner.

He was carried in the blanket to the cellar and dumped into a box. His feelings were hurt, but he spruced up when he got a bag hurt, but he spruced up when he got a bag of peanuts.

As soon as Manager Phillips of the St. Nicholas Rink heard of the capture, he sent a man down to get the monkey. Larissey refused to give it up unless he received a reward of $25. The St. Nicholas man called in a cop and took the monkey back without paying a cent.

Dewey Renominated Admiral of the Navy. WASHINGTON, March 14.-The President sent to the Senate to-day the nomination of George Dewey to be "Admiral of the Navy." This was done to correct an error in his commission. The law of March, 1899. creating the office, made the title "Admiral of the Navy," but Admiral Dewey's com-mission reads "An Admiral in the Navy." Somebody recently called the attention of Admiral Dewey to the fact that the legal title and the title in his commission were not the same. Admiral Dewey told the Navy Department of the discovery and to-day President Roosevelt and Acting Secre-tary of the Navy Darling had a talk over the matter. They came to the conclusion that the Admiral's commission needed correction, and that the proper way to accomplish it was to renominate Admiral

The Senate subsequently confirmed the nomination.

NEW POINT IN TRANSPER CASE. WITFULL EASILY VICTORIOUS. Lawyer for the Interurban Says the Company Isn't in the County. The case of Paul Blume against the Interurban Street Railway Company for refusing to issue transfers came up again before Judge Worcester in the Eleventh Municipal Court yesterday.

Eugene A. Treadwell, who appreared for the railway company, made a motion that the case be dismissed on the ground that the law covering the case in point only stipulates that transfers shall be given by railroad companies within the city limits.

The Interurban Railway Company, he said, was in Westchester county, and that it is the lessee of the Metropolitan and Third Avenue companies.

BEET SUGAR SYRUP FOR HORSES. Experimenters Say It Is Better and Cheaper Than Oats.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., March 14 .- As a result of several weeks of experimenting, Dr. E. F. Vorhis of Owe go has decided that beet sugar syrup is a better and cheaper food for horses than oats. He bought thirty barrels of this syrup, each containing fifty gallons, from the Binghamton Beet Sugar Company. The syrup costs 3 cents a gallon, if the barrels are returned.

This syrup has been fed to the horses of George Crabb, who runs the Owego omnibus and baggage transfer line, and to those of James Forsyth, a farmer. All of these horses have been able to perform their work satisfactorily, they like the food and it seems to agree with them, as they have kept in better condition than when The syrup is also considerably

MIRTHFUL FILLY TAKES THE CRESCENT CITY DERBY.

Finishes Twelve Lengths in Front of Rosanco-Crescent City Jockey Club Meeting Ends in Characteristic Rainy Weather-Five Favorites in Front.

NEW ORLEANS, March 14.-Witfull won the Crescent City Derby to-day by twelve lengths. The race was run in a steady downpour of rain and not one of the five other starters was able to extend the daughter of Mirthful. Witfull, who is owned by Sam Hildreth, was the favorite in the betting, but the others were well supported and it was always possible to get 3 to 2 against the first choice. The Griffin stable had Jove and Embarrassment in and when Fitzgerald got the field away in good order the former out on a pace-making errand. Builman on Birch Broom got away in front, but pulled his mount back to keep company with the favorite. For five furlongs Gannon allowed Witfull to rate along behind. Then he shook her up and she came clear away from her field and led into the stretch by four lengths. When Witfull passed under the wire twelve lengths in front of Rosanco she was fighting for her head. Rosanco finished ten lengths in front of Birch Broom, the latter getting the worst of the going throughout.

The races to-day ended the meeting of the Crescent City Jockey Club, and in spite of the bad weather a big crowd was at the track. Fuller and Gannon each rode two winners. The talent finished up in the struggle with the bookmakers in brilliant style, for five of the six races were won by favorites.

_ Kite Days,

Spring Days, days when the Boy must be out of doors-days when he must be newly fitted out from top to toe.

No wonder the boy likes to be fitted out from our stock. No old styles to make the other boys laugh, but the newest of new things, brim full of style and attractiveness, as well as quality—the sort that never fails to excite admiration among "the fellows."

We know that the Little Folks are as particular as the "Grown-ups" about their clothing and no pains are too great to meet the demand.

H. Vandergrift's New Yacht Expected to Make Speed of 18 Miles an Hour. The second launching within the past week at the Morris Heights yards of the Gas Engine & Power Company and Charles L. Seabury & Co., was the steam yacht Cherokee, at 11 'clock yesterday morning. She is owned by S. H. Vandergrift, a Pittsburg yachtsman, and also a member of the N. Y. Y. C., and Larchmont Y. C. As the vessel left the stocks, Miss Alice Vandergrift, daughter of the owner, christened the yacht. The new boat was designed by the builders to take the place of the owner's steam yacht Cherokee I. which he recently steam yacht Cherokee I, which he recently sold to Gen. John A. Johnston, U. S. A., who renamed her Winona. The new Cherokee is to be used for service on the St. Lawrence River, where the owner has his summer estate, and for cruising along the coast to Halifax. The yacht is built from the plans of Charles I. Seabury.

L. Seabury.

The general dimensions of the Cherokee are: Length over all, 115 feet; waterline length, 95 feet; beam, 15 feet; depth, 9 feet; 9 inches; draught, 5 feet; 5 inches. She is of the schooner rigged, flush deck type, with detachable bow and stern arranged for passage through the State canals, and she will undoubtedly be one of the handsomest boats of her class in service the coming season. The construction is of steel frames and double planking, otherwise known as composite construction, with commodious forward deckhouse which will be used as a dining from The bridge for steering from is also arranged over ferward deckhouse. The machinery room, very roomy, handsomely and comfortably furnished and finished. There are two staterooms for the owner's use and two staterooms for guests. Aft of the guests' staterooms is fitted a commodious main saloon, with transom berths either side.

The Cherokee is equipped with Seabury triple expansion engines and boilers of latest design, and her contract speed is 15 miles per hour, which the builders promise to be exceeded. When in commission, equipped as she will be, with boats, awning, search light, etc., the yacht will present a very attractive appearance. The trial trip will be made within the next week, and the boat will be in commission early in April.

Boston, March 14. Hugh Murphy of New ork got the decision over Billy Ryan of South York got the decision over Billy Ryan of South Boston in a ten-round bout at the Lenox A. C. last night. It was Murphy's first appearance here, and, although he has been winning over here, and, although he has been winning over some of the best featherweights in the country, it was hardly expected that he would make such a show of the local boxer as he did. In the first round Murphy sparred cautiously while he measured his man, and matters were about even when they went into their corners. In the second round the New York lad opened the eyes of the local fans with his great jabbing and cleverness lie had much the best of the last nine rounds and his victory was a popular one.

WILL WORK NIGHT AND DAY. Contractor McAvoy to Hustle at the New Grounds.

At exactly 12 o'clock yesterday a dozen wagons were driven in to the new American League grounds at Broadway and 165th street, and from them were unloaded wheels barrows, picks, shovels, steel drills and other paraphernalia necessary for completing the big job on hand. President Gordon formally awarded the contract for building the grounds early in the morning to former Police In-spector Thomas F. McAvoy, who lost no time in making arrangements to begin work tomorrow. The surveyors were busy all yese-terday afternoon with the result that little time will be lost between now and April 30. Contractor McAvey said to THE SUN reporter: "It looks like a difficult proposition, but we will tackle it in earnest right away. We will have to blast out about 5,000 cubic yards of rock before we can get the field in level the work can go on rapidly without annoying anybody. As soon as we get our steam plant in shape the property will undergo

The main entrance to the grounds will probably be located at the corner of 165th street, so that easy access the grand stand. There will also be another entrance at 168th street. The grand stand will be built on a rock foundation, with a sharp decline behind it to 165th street and Fort Washington road. To these thorough fares there will be numerous exits to be used in case of fire. Some of the trees will be allowed to remain, so that in summer the field will be decidedly more picturesque than the average ball park. "In order to cut streets through the property," said The Sun's informant, "the consent of the owners of the land bordering on the two streets in question must be secured first. Then the consent of the Alderman of the district must be obtained before a petition can be filled with the Board of Aldermen. The Institute for the Blind owns the land along the two streets from the Hudson fiver to Amsterdam avenue and has already agreed in the lease of the property to protect the new club.
